Proceedings

1 THE CLERK: Civil Cause for Telephone
2 Conference, docket number 16-cv-6915, Janfeshan v.
3 Department of Homeland Security et al.

4 Will the parties please state your names for 5 the record?

6 MS. AHMAD: Naz Ahmad for the plaintiff.

7 MR. ISMAIL: Tarek Ismail for the plaintiff.

8 MR. KASSEM: Ramzi Kassem for the plaintiff.

9 MR. SCHACHNER: Elliot Schachner, Assistant
10 United States Attorney for the defendants.

11 THE CLERK: The Honorable Lois Bloom presiding.

12 THE COURT: Good morning, everybody. How is 13 everyone today?

14 MR. SCHACHNER: Good morning, Judge.

15 MS. AHMAD: Good morning.

16 MR. ISMAIL: Good morning, your Honor.

17 THE COURT: This is a telephone conference in 18 the plaintiff's civil rights action. On December 29th, I
19 allowed Customs and Border Protection to conduct a border 20 search of plaintiff's phone, except that I said CBP and 21 any filter teams shall not open or review any 22 communications between plaintiff and his counsel.

23 And defendants state that they have returned 24 the phone to plaintiff but they've been unable to move 25 forward because they're unable to strictly comply with

Proceedings

1 the Court's order and therefore, they request a 2 modification of the order to allow for the opening and 3 review of the potentially privileged material by a filter 4 or taint team and the filter team would then make all 5 reasonable efforts to segregate the privileged material.
6 And the defendants request that plaintiff provide 7 additional information that would facilitate CBP's 8 ability to determine whether or not the communication was 9 with one of the seven identified individuals.

10 The letter was responded to by plaintiff's 11 counsel on January 13th and plaintiff's counsel first 12 off, added two more people to the list. So, Mr.
13 Schachner, now there is nine people. I would like first, 14 who is Jo Jo Annabile and Mustapha Ndanusa? Who are 15 these people?

16 MS. AHMAD: Yes. Good morning, your Honor.
17 This is Ms. Ahmad. Thank you for rescheduling.

18 Jo Jo Annabile is -- well, currently he is the 19 executive director of immigration at (indiscernible) 20 fellowship program. He helped Mr. Janfeshan submit his 21 N400 application. And Mustapha Ndanusa is an attorney in 22 Brooklyn who Mr. Janfeshan retained prior to retaining us 23 and was representing Mr. Janfeshan with respect to 24 (indiscernible).

25 THE COURT: Thank you. So, those two should be

Proceedings

1 added, Mr. Schachner, to the list of people that they 2 should not be reviewing the communications between.

3 It just surprises me that Mr. Janfeshan would 4 forget that when he was first giving us the list of names
5 but I am satisfied on your proffer.

6 Okay. So look, Mr. Schachner, I don't really 7 understand what your needs are and, of course, now the 8 plaintiffs look at that letter as an opportunity to look 9 into what type of review the CBP is able or wants to 10 perform with what types of programs and I don't want to 11 get into any of that.

12 First of all, I don't believe that this is ripe 13 for discovery at this point. There is no motion that's 14 been made. And again, this is just talking procedurally, 15 this is an unusual case, Ms. Ahmad, Mr. Ismail and Mr.
16 Kassem. As you know, I first was involved with this 17 because Mr. Janfeshan was trying to get a boarding FOIL 18 to return to the United States. Once that was 19 accomplished, Judge Ross and I directed that that case be 20 closed. That was closed by voluntary discontinuance and 21 this case was opened.

22 But prior to that case being closed, you had 23 made motions in that case where the government consented 24 to not search the phone pending further order of the 25 Court. The new case was filed on a complaint. There was

Proceedings

1 no motion that accompanied the new filing. And I
2 declined to set up a motion schedule because I did not 3 feel that there was a basis for this. I don't even know 4 the basis for the case going forward on the complaint but 5 we're not up to that because the complaint, I believe, is 6 just in the process of being served on the government.

7 So, we're really at an in between point. We 8 did have an argument. I don't think Mr. Kassem, that you
9 were on the phone at the time. I believe it was Ms.
10 Ahmad and Mr. Ismail at that time and they had pointed me 11 to a number of different cases, House (ph.) being the 12 number one case, Jabow (ph.) being another case.

13 I looked at all of those cases and did not 14 think that this case was on all fours with either of the 15 cases that had been cited to the Court.

16 The new letter, although it's clear that you're 17 asking for certain information, there's not a single case
18 that's relied on in the plaintiff's letter of why you
19 would be entitled to such information. And I do 20 understand that there may be remedies if you believe your 21 clients rights are violated after the fact, but we talked 22 about this a bit at the last conference, that I don't 23 think that there are any procedures that you're entitled 24 to find out about in advance of the search of the phone 25 and you're asking for a special master or some court-

Proceedings

1 appointed filter team to ensure the security of the 2 information on the phone that I intended to protect, well
3 I do intend to protect the attorney-client privilege 4 materials and that's clear from the record of the Court.

5 And if there was any violation of that by CBP,
6 your client would have his remedies if they tried to use 7 that information in any way at any further proceeding.

8 So, I don't really see why this case should be 9 different than all other cases where people have 10 electronic devices seized at the border. But I put this 11 on, so I could give you a chance to try to convince me 12 but I am putting it on the record that I believe that 13 whatever the procedures are that generally are taken when 14 somebody comes through the border and they want to do a 15 more fulsome search of that electronic device. I believe 16 those are the procedures that I am going to put in place 17 with the proviso that the attorney-client privileged 18 materials between Mr. Janfeshan and the people who have 19 been enumerated to the government should not be looked at 20 and should be kept separate and whether it's the filter 21 team or the taint team, I don't care what they call their 22 team, they would have to make all reasonable efforts to 23 keep that privileged material away from whoever else is 24 reviewing the communications that are on Mr. Janfeshan's 25 phone.

Proceedings

1 So, who wants to be heard on this on behalf of 2 plaintiff?

3 MS. AHMAD: Your Honor, it's Ms. Ahmad. Just - 4 - the last conference, I was sactually not here. I was 5 (indiscernible).

6 THE COURT: That's right. I'm sorry. You were 7 out. I'm sorry, thank you.

8 MS. AHMAD: But to your main point, your Honor, 9 really the reason why we're asking for that information 10 is so that we can, you know, provide the protection that 11 your order -- your original order of December 29th does, 12 which is provide significant protection for the attorney-13 client privilege.

14 THE COURT: How are you going to provide 15 protection for it? Quite frankly, the government is put 16 on notice and if they violate that order, it's at their 17 peril. Then they're probably going to have something 18 that limits the use of that material.

19 So, I don't understand why you think that 20 you're involved in that.

21 MS. AHMAD: Well, your Honor, to the extent 22 that we're trying to facilitate the actual search of his 23 phone --

24 THE COURT: No, you're not trying to facilitate 25 it. You haven't done anything except turn over the names

Proceedings

1 of people that the government should not look because 2 you're claiming there's an attorney-client privilege.
3 You're not facilitating the search. You haven't provided 4 any of his codes. I don't see what your argument is 5 here.

6 MR. ISMAIL: Your Honor, if I might be heard,
7 this is Tarek Ismail for the plaintiffs.

8 You know, at the last conference your Honor
9 made it pretty clear to the government to the government 10 that you envisioned potential for a search which would 11 comply with the Court's order and that the government 12 should be able to siphon off this information in such a 13 way to comply with the Court's order.

14 Now the government comes back and says that 15 they're not able to do so and we --

16 THE COURT: But quite frankly, Mr. Ismail,
17 neither you nor I are an expert in how the government 18 conducts its searches --

19 MR. ISMAIL: I agree.

20 THE COURT: -- of what sort of electronics they 21 use but that does not mean that you're now entitled to 22 get discovery and expand the scope of the lawsuit
23 because they couldn't comply with the letter of my order.
24 My order may not have been drawn to take into 25 consideration.

Proceedings

1 In fact, Mr. Schachner, his first appearance on 2 the case was at the last conference. He told me he 3 wasn't sure that they would be able to comply. I sort 4 of, you know, bull in the china shop put my head down and 5 said you will comply.

6 I again want to be clear with the government
7 that they should segregate out the attorney-client 8 privileged materials. They should not look at or 9 discuss or use those materials in any way you've 10 identified the names of the people that they should not 11 look at.

12 And this, I don't think is so different than 13 any other case where there are searches done. I just 14 think that you brought this as a prophylactic strike 15 instead of bringing it after the fact of the search.

16 I don't think they're so much different about 17 this case. You've just said here are attorney-client 18 privileges that attach to these communications.
19 Government, don't look at those communications. I don't 20 think that's so different than many other cases that are 21 brought before the Court. You've just done it 22 prophylactically, as your client was coming through the 23 border.

24 MR. ISMAIL: Your Honor, if I might just 25 respond. You know, we're not looking for discovery.

Proceedings

1 The defendant brought this motion without consulting with 2 us in advance.

3 THE COURT: I do take that point to heart. Mr.
4 Schachner, you have the obligation to try to work out 5 things with defendant's counsel if you can. But I beg to 6 differ with you, Mr. Ismail, on page 2 of your letter, 7 you say, "At a minimum, we ask that defendant CBP 8 identify which software they have used to conduct the 9 forensic extraction and which software they intend to use
10 to conduct the search of the contents of Mr. Janfeshan's 11 phone. And to that end, we want this information to 12 verify their claims."

13 I mean, that's discovery.

14 MS. AHMAD: Your Honor, the reason we're asking 15 that is depending on the type of extraction that was 16 done, they could have already segregated certain 17 information when they took a copy of his phone.

18 THE COURT: They could have but that's not 19 something you're entitled to. So, again, we're still at 20 this limbo where the complaint has not yet been served on 21 the defendants. Maybe it was just served.

22 Mr. Schachner, do you have any information
23 regarding whether your clients have been served?

24 MR. SCHACHNER: As of Friday, CPB was not 25 served and this office was not served.

Proceedings

1 THE COURT: So again, until they have to 2 respond which in a federal complaint -- I'm sorry, a 3 summons to the government, they get sixty days to 4 respond. So, we're ahead by just having a conference on 5 the phone. But what I do want to say, Mr. Schachner, 6 when there is an order of the Court and there was some 7 disagreement between the parties, you should have tried 8 to do this on consent because if you could have spoken to 9 plaintiff's counsel and agreed that the taint team would 10 segregate out these communications and therefore, you 11 could have asked jointly for an order of the Court that 12 would use the language that could effectuate the intent
13 of the Court's order, even if I didn't say it the way I 14 should have. That would have made my life easier.

15 Now, I am not saying that the plaintiffs would 16 have agreed. They have may have asked for more than what 17 you thought that they are entitled to and then you could 18 have brought that to me after trying to resolve it with 19 them but I do think that point is well taken by 20 plaintiff's counsel. That you made no effort to contact 21 them to see if you could come up with language that would 22 suit both sides.

23 MR. SCHACHNER: I apologize, your Honor.
24 Again, I didn't think that the discovery rules applied 25 here because there hasn't been any discovery. In fact,

Proceedings

1 as your Honor just mentioned, the complaint has not been 2 served. Also, I --

3 THE COURT: Well, I agree with that but I'm 4 just saying my order was --

5 MR. SCHACHNER: Okay.

6 THE COURT: -- for something to happen and 7 frankly, I didn't know that they were going to take the 8 copy and return the phone. So, that that's already 9 happened, I'm glad that Mr. Janfeshan has his phone. And 10 now I just want to get on with things here.

11 I don't think that we're going to schedule any 12 discovery until there is service on the government and 13 then the government may respond by a motion instead of by 14 answering and then there may not be discovery at all.

15 But right now, all I have is the letter which 16 is the motion to amend, correct and supplement by the 17 government and the responsive letter by the plaintiff's 18 counsel. So, that's what I would like to resolve. So, 19 how do you propose the order be amended, Mr. Schachner, 20 that would allow CBP to get on with its search but still 21 comply with the Court's order?

22 MR. SCHACHNER: Basically that the order
23 provide that CBP can conduct a border search of the cell 24 phone or of the copy of the cell phone in accordance with 25 CPB's normal procedures which includes among other

Proceedings

1 things, the use of the taint team to review the material
2 for privileged or potentially privileged communications.

3 And we would also like that the defendants -- 4 that the plaintiff, rather, be directed to forthwith 5 provide that additional information that we asked for 6 such as the screen names, phone numbers, e-mail addresses 7 of all nine -- (indiscernible) are now up to now, in 8 order to facilitate the identification of potentially 9 privilege communications.

10 THE COURT: Plaintiff's counsel?

11 MS. AHMAD: Your Honor, one thing is I would 12 like to point out again is we're not asking for anything 13 more than what defendants have actually asked us for, 14 more information to conduct the search.

15 With respect to the filter team, our request in 16 order to protect the attorney-client privilege would be 17 that the filter team report directly to the Court in the 18 first instance.

19 THE COURT: Why?

20 MS. AHMAD: Well, your Honor, to the extent
21 that we don't know how they determine what is considered 22 privileged communications and also that our concern about 23 privileged communications be retained in a database that 24 CBP has or if it's, you know, vulnerable to attack or --

25 THE COURT: Again, you know, I don't want to be

Proceedings

1 dismissive of your concerns on behalf of your client but 2 your client entered the country with this phone. I am 3 not going to direct that he be treated differently than 4 anybody else would be treated and then again, I say to 5 you that you have your remedies if they don't comply with 6 the Court's order.

7 I don't know that there's anything else I could 8 say to you, Ms. Ahmad. I am not going to require CPB to 9 treat Mr. Janfeshan's phone differently than they treat 10 any other phone at a border search. They've already 11 imaged the phone and returned it to him. You've provided 12 the names of nine individuals. I don't know if you want 13 to give more information to try to protect your client as 14 to e-mails but if you're not going to, I am just going to 15 direct them to segregate that information, not to report 16 to me because that's not what is done in border searches.

17 Again, if there's ramifications down the road, 18 you have the record, you have my order that they were 19 supposed to segregate this and not open it and use it for 20 any purpose.

21 So again, they still are going to be directed 22 to make all reasonable efforts to segregate the 23 privileged material. I don't know what your position is 24 about providing additional information to facilitate 25 their ability to determine whether a communication was

Proceedings

1 sent to or from one of these nine individuals but if you
2 are not going to tell them to make their best efforts.

3 MS. AHMAD: Right.

4 THE COURT: And I am going to tell them to 5 complete their search by a date certain, so that we know 6 that they're done.

7 MS. AHMAD: Your Honor, as we stated in our 8 letter, we would be willing to provide phone numbers and 9 e-mail addresses of the individuals who would have 10 privileged communications with Mr. Janfeshan.

11 And to an earlier point made, the summonses
12 were sent out on Thursday by certified mail. So, I can 13 expect that they will be delivered either today or 14 tomorrow.

15 THE COURT: Again, I am not going to be 16 involved in the intricacies. You understand that under 17 the federal rules that when you're serving an agency or a 18 head of an agency, that you have to deliver a copy to the 19 United States Attorney, deliver it down to Washington.

20 MS. AHMAD: Yes, your Honor.

21 THE COURT: And so again, I am not going to 22 involved in checking. I am just letting you know that 23 from the date that they receive a summons, they have 60 24 days under the federal rules to respond.

25 So, I don't expect this to be on the top of the

Proceedings

1 pile for some period of time. And then it may be that 2 they choose to answer or they may approach Judge Ross and 3 ask to move against the complaint. I don't know what the 4 government intends.

5 But I wanted to get this resolved, so that Mr.
6 Janfeshan could get on with his life here and that the 7 attorneys can make their plans but I am not going to get 8 more involved at this point in time.

9 You're saying that you would provide the phone 10 numbers and e-mail addresses for the people who are on 11 Mr. Janfeshan's phone. How quickly can you do that, Ms.
12 Ahmad?

13 MS. AHMAD: It would take a couple of days. We 14 have to confirm with counsel that's not part of our 15 office (indiscernible).

16 THE COURT: So, by Friday?

17 MS. AHMAD: Yes.

18 THE COURT: Friday, the 20th?

19 MS. AHMAD: That's fine. Yes.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 So, Mr. Shachner, assuming that you get the 22 phone numbers and e-mail addresses for the nine 23 individuals by Friday, how much time is the agency asking 24 for to complete the search?

25 MR. SCHACHNER: A little hard to say, your

Proceedings

1 Honor, because we don't know what's on th phone. We 2 don't know if there are any other technological obstacles 3 that may develop. It's a little hard to say. Also, of 4 course, I mean, the taint team, of course, does involve 5 some additional time.

6 So, what I would suggest is why don't we 7 establish that a target date for completion of February 8 28th, with the understanding that it's some -- if there's 9 some issue or issues that come up, we would contact 10 counsel first and we can't resolve it, then approach your 11 Honor again.

12 THE COURT: I think that's acceptable Mr.
13 Schachner. So, just basically I want you to convey to 14 your clients that they should move on this.

15 MR. SCHACHNER: Of course.

16 THE COURT: That I know that there is a lot of 17 other pressing business for them but they should move on 18 this, okay?

19 MR. SCHACHNER: That's fine, your Honor.

20 THE COURT: So --

21 MR. KASSEM: Your Honor?

22 THE COURT: Yes.

23 MR. KASSEM: If I may, this is Ramzi Kassem.
24 We will try to avoid to serving the Court unless it's 25 absolutely necessary. As Ms. Ahmad said, we are going to

Proceedings

1 reach out to counsel outside of our law firm to gather 2 all of their e-mail addresses and phone numbers with 3 which they have communicated with Mr. Janfeshan.

4 In the event that one of those lawyers is out 5 of town or on vacation or otherwise unreachable, we will 6 communicate that to Mr. Schachner by Friday and we'll try 7 to work things out.

8 THE COURT: That's fine but what I was going to 9 say to do you, Mr. Kassem, is your client, Mr. Janfeshan, 10 should have this information on his phone. He was the 11 one who had communications with this person and whether 12 they're out of town and they can provide their phone 13 number, if it's on his phone, that's what we need. We 14 don't really need you -- I'm not going to try to 15 interrupt your getting in touch with these people, but we 16 clearly should be able to get this information from Mr.
17 Janfeshan because that's what you're trying to protect, 18 what is on his phone and they've now returned his phone.
19 So, he shouldn't be able to say I don't remember the 20 number. It should be there.

21 So, I am going to ask you to do your very best 22 by Friday. That's what the order of the Court is going 23 to be. If for any reason, it's not supplied, Mr.
24 Schachner's, of course, going to ask for more time down 25 the road and I would imagine you just want this to be

Proceedings

1 done, so that you could advise your client, okay, 2 February 28th has come and gone. Nobody has knocked on 3 your door or called you in for an interview. So, I think 4 we're okay.

5 Maybe it will take longer. I have no idea.
6 But I just want you to do your part, so that the 7 government will do their part, so Mr. Janfeshan could get 8 back to his daily life.

9 May I ask, it's not part of the case, Ms.
10 Ahmad, but did Mr. Janfeshan's family rejoin him?

11 MS. AHMAD: No, your Honor. He's still -- just 12 started a new job at the TLC Commisison and found a place 13 to lvie, so he is saving up money for their return.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Well again, is there 15 anything else that I can address on behalf of the 16 plaintiffs before we adjourn?

17 MR. ISMAIL: Your Honor, there is another 18 matter that we need to, I think, collectively give some 19 thought to which is the fact that as you noted, your 20 Honor, the defendant is now retained a full copy of Mr.
21 Janfeshan's phone and that inclues the privilege 22 informaiton.

23 And we need to give some thought to whether 24 that portion of the information they retained is 25 something they can segregate and destroy or will they

Proceedings

1 retain that information in their databases on a forward 2 going basis indefinitely?

3 THE COURT: Well, thank you for that thought.
4 Anything else, Mr. Shachner, before we adjourn?

5 MR. SCHACHNER: Well, I think it's a little 6 premature to address that, your Honor. Other than that, 7 nothing else.

8 MR. ISMAIL: Well, your Honor, we will try to 9 raise it with the Court then at a later point when 10 hopefully it won't be premature.

11 THE COURT: Well, and I also want to make sure, 12 you know -- I think I've said this before, Mr. Ismail, 13 but if I haven't, you don't want to create bad law and 14 again, I'm not trying to prejudge either side of this 15 argument about what the government does when it has 16 communications that it's copied from somebody's laptop or 17 computer or cell phone and this is not in a criminal 18 context. It's a border search. So, I do understand that 19 it's very different.

20 But without you giving me case law and some 21 precedent for it and again, I do not find the cases that 22 you cited in the first instance to be on point. I 23 thought that they were quite different.

24 The House case, the man's computer had been 25 seized during a border search but not returned for a good

Proceedings

1 length of time. I forget if it was a month and a half or 2 more and that was a First Amendment case. And I believe 3 that the district judge up in Massachusetts did not 4 dismiss that case because of the length of time that the 5 government had retained the journalist's laptop.

6 So again, I know that there's not a whole lot 7 on these points of, you know, electronic border searches
8 and I do know that you were making by analogy some points
9 that you wanted the Court to consider but I do want you 10 to understand that we are moving forward in the case. We 11 are not yet in discovery because issue has not been 12 joined.

13 I did act on the government's letter by getting 14 you on the phone. I will also make sure that you have 15 your chance to put your client's position on the record
16 but at this point in time, I am going to amend the order 17 as requested by the government and I am going to direct 18 that the plaintiff provide by Friday, the phone numbers 19 and e-mails of the individuals who are on the phone who 20 are protected by attorney-client privilege -- the 21 communications with plaintiff are protected by attorney-22 client privilege and then the government shall make all 23 efforts to have the search completed by February 28th, 24 2017.

25 And with that, we are adjourned. Thank you

Proceedings

1 very much.

2 MS. AHMAD: Thank you, your Honor.
